MrMcclaughry
1 day ago

Re: Dana's Candace Owens thing she's got going on? She's just being spitefully bratty, busily tirading around like a mini T-rex and - - - missing the forest for the trees as per usual.

Her SLAVES, yep she's trying to have her own little "flock" that she's "shepherding" for Jesus (cough cough) - will now just say something uber-intelligent about this like: "SEE?!?! She's being attacked! She must be over the target!!" And there's little Dana, falling for it every time. STILL.

It's so sad that she won't let herself have any friends that will tell her the truth, but what can you do.

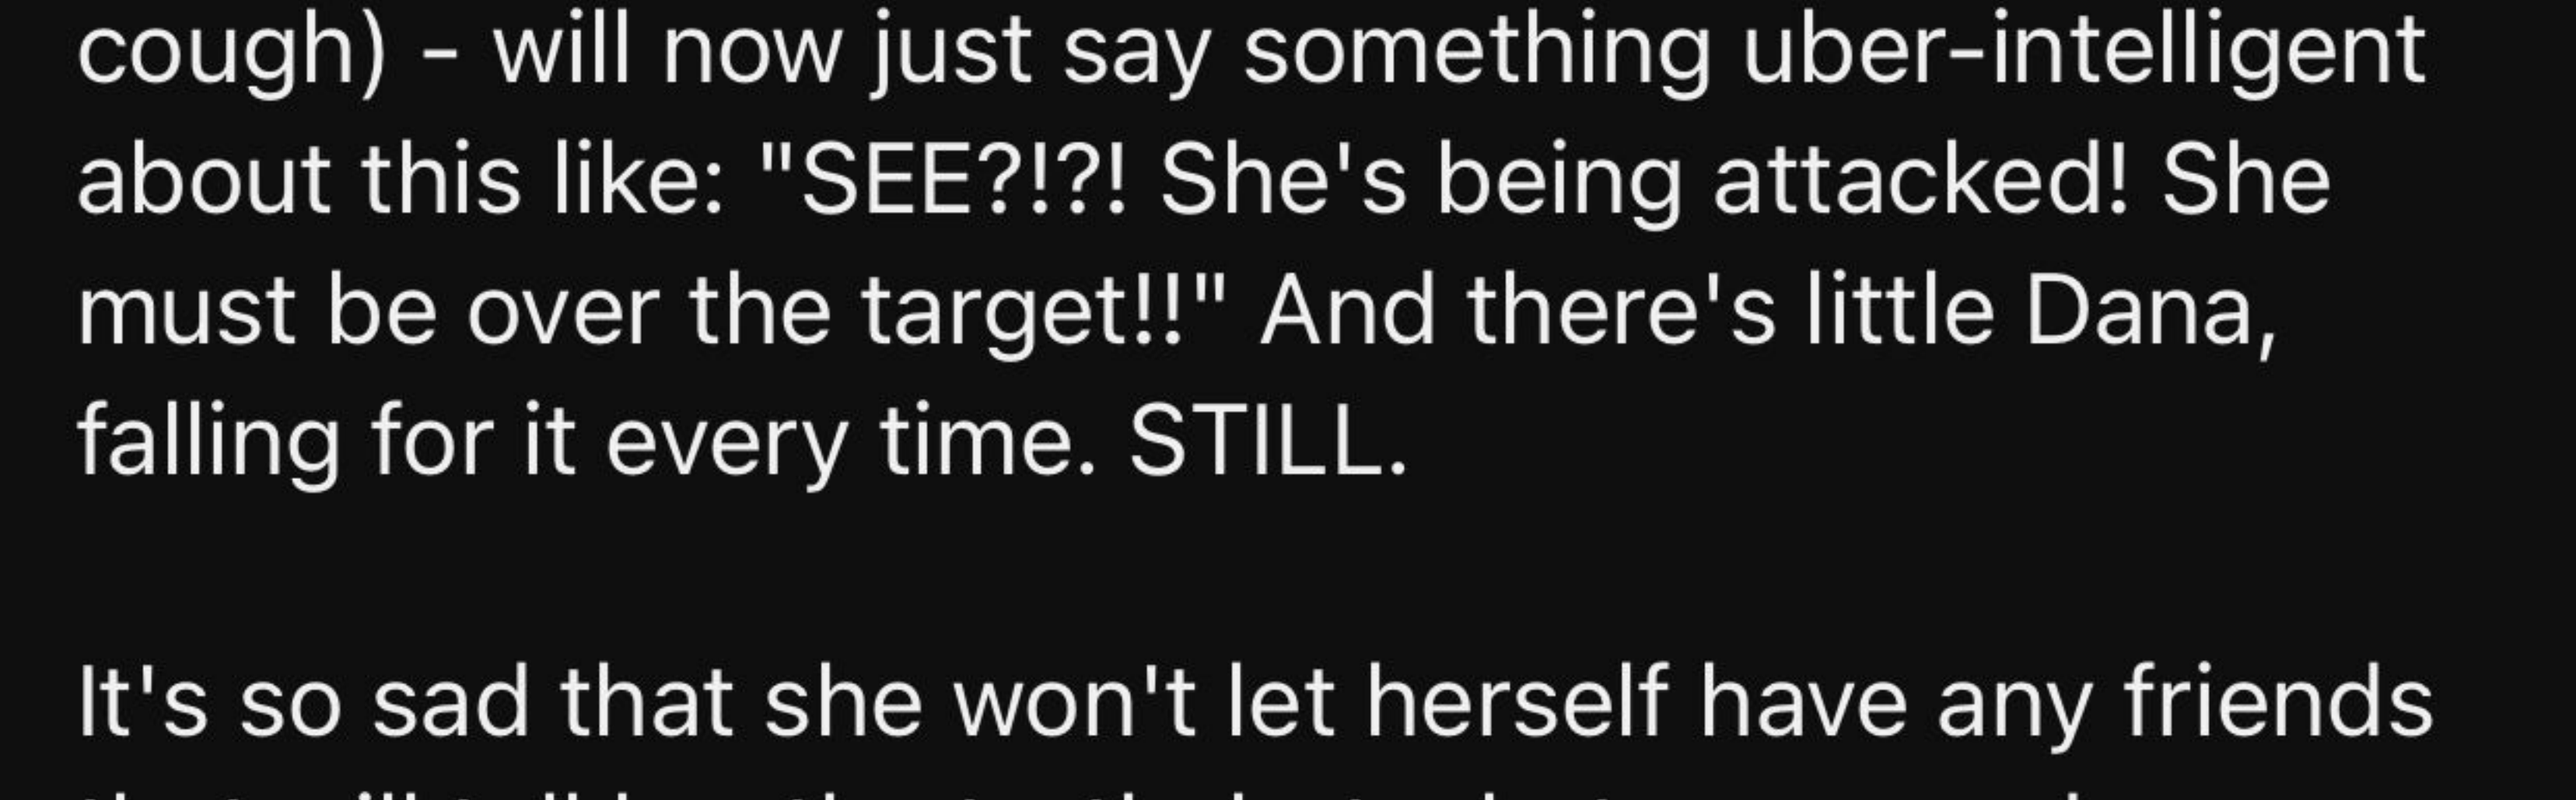
MrMcclaughry
8 days ago (edited)

EDIT!! And the soap opera saga over Candace's father continues, with Dana none the wiser as to just what's really going on. There are some pluses though and those are fun to see.

Re: Dana's Candace Owens thing she's got going on? She's just being spitefully bratty, busily tirading around like a mini T-rex and - - - missing the forest for the trees as per usual.

Her SLAVES, yep she's trying to have her own little "flock" that she's "shepherding" for Jesus (cough cough) - will now just say something uber-intelligent about this like: "SEE?!?! She's being attacked! She must be over the target!!" And there's little Dana, falling for it every time. STILL.

It's so sad that she won't let herself have any friends that will tell her the truth, but what can you do.



MrMcclaughry
9 hours ago (edited)

No, I'm not hiding that the last several posts are by me, not my husband Mike. I just don't feel like doing the "formal" thing. Besides, Mike knows and doesn't disagree with what I'm talking about. He reminded me recently of that he's always let agents live their cover, like "I'm trying to find and present the truth" "I care about what's been done to people" "I care about veterans and their families" and all kinds of variations of the above.

He said it's no skin off our nose if they want to help and aren't causing any damage or destruction but if they are agents, sooner or later they will be pressured, one way or another, to start doing what they always try to do with us, and always fail at.

Such was the case with Dana.

Dana, with this emphasis she has lately on "sins of omission" regarding Candace Owens background family-wise is seriously doing a wonderful impression of "those who live in glass houses should not throw rocks".

Speaking of houses - when is Dana going to straighten out, publicly, what appears to be her "sins of omission" along the lines of her preferred narrative of "I lost my house" because of ZDT not paying his loan to her back, with the added color, narrative-wise of also it was supposedly because of some sort

Dana, with this emphasis she has lately on "sins of omission" regarding Candace Owens background family-wise is seriously doing a wonderful impression of "those who live in glass houses should not throw rocks".

Speaking of houses - when is Dana going to straighten out, publicly, what appears to be her "sins of omission" along the lines of her preferred narrative of "I lost my house" because of ZDT not paying his loan to her back, with the added color, narrative-wise of also it was supposedly because of some sort of combination of Scientologists, Satanists, and Processean agents Fair Gaming her.

Or...is the sin not one of omission, but that she just flat-out lied to me when she told me about what really happened as to why she "lost" her house?

Either way, she's lying to people.

Not good.

She's actually making a mockery of those that have actually lived through Fair Game and NOT lost their integrity, their honor, their desire to help others, joined another "more acceptable" cult etc.

Mockery of, strawman, now where have I seen that tactic before...

Or could it be...

That perhaps that's the real point, hmm?

Make a fool out of the idea of ANYone doing what she is combo-research tools and skills-wise? Cough, cough. And you and I both know who the main "anyone" being targeted indirectly would be in that use of Dana as a STRAWMAN situation. Complete with the shades of a Jeff and Karen reboot, their website/blog they created where they tried to offset...

Nah. Couldn't be.

MrMcclaughry
10 hours ago

For quite some time now from Dana, AFAIK there is pretty much no more "I'm here for the victims" - not a direct quote, just an umbrella metaphor - giving them a voice, justice, helping them etc. etc.

Quite the diversion from her original presentation of herself in late spring/early summer 2023. Isn't that interesting?

It also happens to be exactly one of the things I called her out on the EARLY MANIFESTATIONS OF, that diversion, in 2024 after not quite a year of dealing with her directly and personally.

Flying a little higher into the scene now -

a Note to Dana's handlers - that she doesn't know (or doesn't want to know) are handlers - better get on that guys. it's getting way to obvious now. No matter how many sock-puppets you throw in the mix.

Or could it be...

That perhaps that's the real point, hmm?

Make a fool out of the idea of ANYone doing what she is combo-research tools and skills-wise? Cough, cough. And you and I both know who the main "anyone" being targeted indirectly would be in that